

Home > Blog > Expository Essay > Expository Essay About a Person

Descriptive Essay About a Person You Admire

My grandmother is an extraordinary person whom I admire for her courage, strength and unwavering work ethic. Despite the hardships she faced in life, she has managed to stay positive and kind-hearted.

At first glance, my grandmother appears as a petite woman with a gentle demeanor. She has luminous skin that glows of youthfulness despite the fact that she is 73 years old. Her cheeks are adorned with smile lines that deepen when she laughs. When I look into her eyes, it feels like they can see right through me; full of wisdom and understanding accumulated over the course of her lifetime journey.

My grandmother was born in rural Vietnam during World War II and grew up in poverty where opportunities were scarce. Despite this, she was determined to rise above her circumstances and make a better life for herself. She worked hard to become the first woman in her village to go to college and graduated with honors. After completing her studies, she immigrated with her family to the United States where she began working as a nurse in order to provide for her children.

For over three decades, my grandmother has dedicated herself to helping others through her work as a nurse, caring for countless patients during many of their most difficult times. Beyond that, she often spends much of her time volunteering at local charities and soup kitchens, deeply committed to giving back even when she does not have much left for herself in return.

I am immensely inspired by my grandmother for her dedication and resilience. Her strength of will has enabled her to overcome all odds and remain committed to her values no matter what life throws at her. She is a shining example of grace, courage, and kindness, demonstrating that it is possible to make a difference in this world even with the most limited resources. For this, I admire my grandmother deeply for who she is and everything that she stands for.

By writing this essay about the person I admire most – my grandmother – I hope to pay homage to those individuals whose hard work and dedication continue to inspire us all. From my grandmother, we can learn invaluable lessons such as perseverance, selflessness, and humility; qualities which are essential if we wish to make our own mark on this world. My grandmother is the embodiment of these values, and I will forever be inspired by her courage, strength and unwavering work ethic. She has been a shining example in my life that proves that anything is possible if you set your mind to it – a powerful lesson that I will carry with me always.

myperfectwords