Short Introduction Speech Sample

Hi. I'm Jason Dean. I just started here and I'm working for the communications department as the Lead Digital Communications Director. I used to work as a Social Media Analyst for three years in my previous workplace, so taking on a new role felt intimidating at first, but I'm always up for the challenge.

If I don't have my eyes glued to a computer screen, I usually spend my free time volunteering at the local animal shelter. I aspire to do well in my career to help build a better life for these animals who have been neglected. I may be young, but I know that if you believe in yourself you can accomplish just about anything. You may also see steps in speech composition.

It's an honor to be granted this opportunity. I'm looking forward to working together.
